INTRODUCTION

The report which follows represents a compilation and analysis of data reported by Indiana Public Libraries for the year 1988. Of the 238 Indiana Public Libraries, 237 reported information for calendar year 1988.

Academic, Institutional, and Special Libraries were requested to report data for the fiscal year July 1987 through June 1988. Of 366 surveys mailed to Academic (including regional campuses), Institutional, and Special Libraries, 160 usable surveys were returned.

The programming sofware, SAS, available through the Information Services Division, Indiana Department of Administration, was used to prepare the statistical tables.

More detailed and additional information is available in some categories. A machine-readable copy of the database or other printed compilations and analyses may be requested from the Indiana State Library. For details on cost and availability, contact the Library Information Coordinator, Extension Division, Indiana State Library, 140 N. Senate Ave., Indianapolis, IN 46204.

Notes and Corrections

Sections 1 and 2 are arranged alphabetically and can be used as indexes for the remaining sections, which are arranged by population ranking.

In Section 2, assessed valuations and tax rates were not reported by some libraries (indicated by a "."). In the case of contracting units, however, there is no tax rate.

In Section 3, borrowers lists are often not updated on an annual basis. This list, therefore, does not reflect current activity but rather reported activity.

1987 Statistics of Indiana Libraries

25 Years

Looking Back

"Our young people constitute the greatest resource our country has--and books are the nourishment essential to their intellectual growth into thoughtful and informed citizens.

In the last few years we have seen enormous efforts made in community after community to expand library services, to increase the number and variety of books available, and to offer reading guidance to young and old alike. These efforts have been of great importance, but there are still too many people who have little access to libraries, and too many schools with poor or inadequate selections of books for their students."

Definition of Statistical Terms

THE MEAN: A measure of central tendency which is commonly termed the "average". The mean is derived by dividing the sum of all the values in any particular group of data by the values included in that total.

Example: (see page 51) Total Registered Borrowers (2,711,123) divided by total number of Indiana Libraries (238) equals 11,391. So 11,391 is the average number of registered borrowers in each of 238 public libraries.

THE MEDIAN: The popular term for the 50th percentile. The median is equal to the value of an indicator at or below which 50% of the values fall. The value of the median differs from the value of the mean when the distribution of the values of an indicator is not regular, but rather skewed or piled at either end of the range. When there is considerable difference between the median and the mean, the median is generally thought of as being the more valid measure of central tendency.

Example: (see page 51) Over half of the 238 public libraries (or at least 119 libraries) have 3,576 registered borrowers or less. Since there is a 7,961 difference between the mean and the median in this example, the median of 3,576 would be considered a "more valid measure of central tendency" of the number of registered borrowers of Indiana's 238 public libraries than the mean of 11,391. In other words, 119 libraries have registered borrowers of 3,576 or fewer while 119 libraries have more than 3,576 registered borrowers.

The staff at the Indiana State Library are especially appreciative of the overwhelming support which is given to this project by the reporting libraries each year.
